Volume III

1927

Published by The Senior Class
The Georgia State Womans College
Valdosta, Georgia

DEDICATION

Because we recognize her spirit of devotion and loyalty to all student activities; because we appreciate and admire her ability to direct as well as to inspire; and because we love her for her own personality, we, the Senior Class of '27, dedicate this volume of the

Pine Cone to

MISS GERTRUDE GILMER

FOREWORD

"Step out of the misty veil
Which darkly winds 'round thee;
Step out of the olden days,
Thou great Divinity.

Across the mental vision
Passes the godly host,
That Bragi's melodies
Made Asgard's proudest boast.

Canst thou span the bridge of Bifrost,
The pathway of the gods?
O name the mighty heroes!
Draw pictures of the gods."

An Ode

O ancient Norsemen, powerful and bright
And joyous with the joyous youth of yore,
O ancient Norsemen, for a little light
Of that which shineth in you evermore,
To cleanse the newness from our weary eyes,
And bathe our old world with a new surprise,
That simple truth might reign o'er sea and shore.

O Odin, mighty father of the host
The primary hero of those crude, real days,
The example of thy life must not be lost
Thou far-seeing traveler of untrodden ways;
A captain of the body and the soul,
A natural champion of the artist's whole,
To thee, the father of truth, our thanks we raise.

—Mary Alice Sineath, '27.

The College

"And wondrous gleamed Valhalla on the heights,
Her walls shone bright as rows of glittering spears;
The roof resplendent like great golden shields;
Hundreds of open gates and welcoming doors
For myriad warriors from the fields of earth,
The chosen heroes of the future years."

"Where Beauty, mother to the Muses sits
And comments volumes with her ivory pen."

"Where every sight makes music to the eye."

"Morning was gleaming with roseate light,
The air was filled with scent distilled."

"Some chief beauty conquering you."

"Suddenly the piercing sunbeams
Burst the clouds illumining all."

"Loveliness like a shadow."

"Sprang up the mighty trees
That reared their blessings roofward."

Creation of Norseland

In the beginning a great yawning gulf
With twilight o'erflowing,
Home of the Mist and the Home of the Fire
Each in power growing;
Water from the Home of the Mist ever springing,
Blasts that the wind from the Gulf's ever bringing,
Flames that the Home of the Fire's ever flinging,
In formless mass flowing.

Time caused the water from the Mist to grow hard
From cold blasts a-chilling,
Tempered by fire the rime began to expand
The seething void filling;
Soon from the depths the great mass seemed to move
The elements about took their place with a shove,
Out from the formless stepped form from above,
The chaos a-stilling.

—Mary Alice Sineath, '27.

Administration

"They call, inviting us above,
The heroes they bid speed
To Odin's glorious halls
Where they deal out ale and mead."

The President's Greeting

IT is one of the most interesting experiences of one who has been associated with the college from its beginning, to watch the beginning and development of the various student activities. At first, usually, they begin in a more or less tentative way, gradually find themselves—take their stride, so to speak—and go forward with ever-increasing certainty of purpose and with ever-increasing effectiveness of execution. So began, so have advanced, and so carry on, the May Day Festival, the Christmas Festival, the Student Government Association, the Y. W. C. A., The Pine Branch, and other characteristic student activities. The last, but by no means least, of these activities to begin its course at The Georgia State Womans College is the Pine Cone. Indeed, it began its career in a more developed form than did any other student undertaking. Its first issue reflected the greater maturity of the college. It was an excellent product to begin with. The second number of the annual was very properly an improvement on the first. And now appears the third issue. It is confidently to be expected that it will show its gain.

It is a pleasure to me as President of the college to welcome this issue of the Pine Cone as one more expression of the resourcefulness, the enthusiasm, the courage, and ability to "put things over" with distinctiveness and finish, which we believe to be a fixed characteristic of the students of the college.

—R. H. Powell, President.

'Mong the stately pines of Georgia,
Glorious to the view,
Stands our noble Alma Mater
Basking 'neath the blue.

Alma Mater, thee we honor,
Praises never fail,
For thy fame shall never perish,

THE GEORGIA STATE WOMAN'S COLLEGE

AT VALDOSTA

IS happy to use this page as an advertisement. But the real advertisement of the college is the book itself—the Annual. A college is more perfectly revealed through its student activities than in any other way. This college is happy to be so revealed—a livable, lovable, effective organization of livable, lovable, effective people. : : :

Jokes

Mary Louise Maxwell: "There's a feather in my sausage."

Ruth Norman: "Oh, that's all right; it was made from a bird dog."

* * * * *

Student (recently expelled): "Hello, Dean, I'm back."

Dean: "What for?"

Student: "I read in that letter that I was expelled, but on the envelope it said, 'After five days return to Dean Wood.' "

* * * * *

Mr. Patton: "Did you see the 'Big Parade?' "

Mamie Fletcher: "No, dammit—I bought a ticket, but the thing never passed."

* * * * *

Miss Lockett: "Can you prove that the square of the hypoteneuse is equal to the sum of the square of the two sides of this triangle?"

Marie Parham: "I don't have to prove it—I admit it."

* * * * *

First Stude: "Are you dressing for bathing?"

Second Stude: "No, just taking my clothes off to see if I have my underwear on."

* * * * *

Mrs. Wood: "Has Mr. Wood had his breakfast?"

Martha: "I don't know, mother."

Mrs. Wood: "Well, ask him."

Martha: "I did, and he doesn't know either."

* * * * *

Sara Mandeville (after Junior-Senior picnic): "Say, Christine, gimme a mirror, quick."

Christine: "What do you want with a mirror?"

Sara: "I wanna see who I am."

* * * * *

Dentist: "How did you break the filling off your tooth?"

Lucille Wood: "Must have done it shifting gears on my chewing-gum."

* * * * *

Frances Borland: "I think I'll let my hair grow."

Mary Blackman: "Why, have you been stopping it?"

Jokes

Miss Gilmer gave the Freshmen the following topic sentence to write a theme on: "I always cried there but never could I laugh."

A Freshman wrote her paper on, "I always cried there but never could I weep.'

* * * * *

Sophomore: "Did you take a bath?"

Freshman: "No, is there one missing?"

* * * * *

Velma Kennedy: "Now, honestly, what would you do if you were in my shoes?"

Estha Freeman: "Get a shine."

* * * * *

Miss Hopper (Geography class): "Why do they have knots on the ocean instead of miles?"

Freshman: "Well, you see they couldn't have the ocean tide if there were no knots."

* * * * *

"What's the matter, Sara? You're looking worried."

"Work—nothing but work from morning to night."

"How long have you been at it?"

"I begin to-morrow."

* * * * *

"Why did you put that spider in your roommate's bed?"

"Because I couldn't find any roaches."

* * * * *

Mr. Patton: "When do you think they will recognize the Russians?"

Virginia Hightower: "Not until they shave, I am sure."

* * * * *

Miss Gilmer (in English 41): "You must relax when you read 'Lord Jim.'"

Florence Breen: "Yes, mam, I did last night and went to sleep."

* * * * *

Miss Ivey (assigning lesson): "Next time we will go through the mosquito."

Jokes

Miss Gilmer: "People can change quickly."

Elsie Gunn: "Yes, mam, just like a butterfly."

* * * * *

Lorene Tittle (punching Frankie Hartsfield who is talking to the girl on the other side): "You had better shut up."

Frankie Hartsfield: "Don't worry, I will when Miss Youngblood calls on me."

* * * * *

"After running three miles a man jumped from the cliffs near Calais and was picked up two miles out at sea. This we believe is the first attempt to jump the channel."

* * * * *

Practice Teacher (to training school pupil): "Why don't you be good and study?"

Pupil: "What would you give me to be good?"

Teacher: "You should be like your teachers, good for nothing."

* * * * *

Traffic Cop: "Don't you know you can't turn around in the middle of the block."

Catherine Ulmer: "Oh, I think I can make it, thank you."

* * * * *

Mary Alice: "Chris, what's a waffle?"

Christine: "A baked cross-word puzzle."

* * * * *

Sara Whitehurst: "How came that bruise on your forehead?"

Julia Mae: "Bumped it getting out of a bed on a Pullman. It's a berthmark."

* * * * *

"Dot says she has a roommate with a haughty air. She sweeps the room with a glance, but it doesn't seem to improve its appearance very much."

* * * * *

"When you are contemplating a rash act, consider the pin. Its head keeps it from going wrong."

Jokes

Mary V.: "You seem to be very intimate with Florence. I didn't know you had known her long."

Hazel Furlong: "Not long, but we shared a Yellow Cab from the station once and were thrown together a great deal."

* * * * *

"Speaking of old families," said one of the girls in History 10, "one of my ancestors was present at the signing of the Magna Charta."

"And one of mine," said Ola Barber, "was present at the signing of the Ten Commandments."

* * * * *

Fresh: "How do you use butter in a bath?"
Another Fresh: "Gosh, I don't know. How?"
Fresh: "Search me. But I saw a sign in Piggly Wiggly—'Tub Butter, 39c.'"

* * * * *

Mr. Patton: "Does any one know why Lucile Nix is late this morning?"

Martha Minter: "Yea. She's got one of these combination pajama suits, and when she awoke this morning she had forgotten the combination."

* * * * *

She: "What happened to you? Were you in an accident?"

He: "No. I was being shaved by a lady barber when a mouse ran across the floor."

* * * * *

"One night as I lay thinking
  Of the pleasant days of yore,
I heard a swishing, swashing,
  Just outside my bedroom door.
Up the hall a funny clicking,
  And some shuffling on the floor;
'Twas Nan's bedroom slippers,
  Simply that and nothing more."

* * * * *

Louise Benton: "Did you ever take chloroform?"
Minnie D. Culverhouse: "No, who teaches it?"

* * * * *

Lucille Dowling: "Say, Elsie—have you got a dime for a poor old lady?"
Elsie: "Where is the poor old lady?"
Lucille: "Down at the Tourist Camp selling hamburgers."

* * * * *

Miss Temple (to a talkative class): "Keep your mouths shut, please, and sing."

SUPPRESSED DESIRES

MR. STOKES—To succeed the late Rudolph Valentino.

MISS GILMER—To be a second Pavlowa.

MARY ALICE SINEATH—To be a modern Rip Van Winkle.

MR. PATTON—To be the last man on earth.

VELMA KENNEDY—To be able to read at the rate of a book a minute so that she might be the world's best-read woman.

MARTHA YOUNGBLOOD—To find the ideal man.

SHIRLEY GASKINS—To have everyone agree with her that the University of Georgia is the world's greatest institution of learning.

MR. DASHER—To be Martinelli's rival.

ESTHA FREEMAN—To write a book that the general public can not understand in order that Miss Gilmer might have some literature to read to her future English classes.

"Good were the days of yore, when men were tried
By ring of shields, as now by ring of gold;
But, while the gods are left, and hearts of men,
And the free ocean, still the days are good."
